JAGRAT

'Jagrat' – the Need of the Hour

'Jagrat' is a very powerful word in Sanskrit literature. The nearest equivalent in English may be 'alertness' or 'vigilance'. This word occurs in our spiritual literature of very ancient times. The famous 'Katopanishad' exhorted: "Utthistata, Jagrat, Prapya Varan Nibodhata." This has been freely rendered into English by Swami Vivekananda: "Arise! Awake!! Stop not till the goal is reached." In both the original and the translation, the combination of words looks a bit odd. First comes arise and then comes awake. Normally the reverse should be the order. First you wake up and then rise up to start working. But in spiritual life it is different. It is after one has risen up, the question of right direction of moving ahead comes up. The choice of direction is very important. After rising up if you take a wrong direction the very purpose will be defeated. To take the right direction, an inner awakening is a prerequisite. It is this awakening that the Upanishad calls for. That can be achieved by sitting at the feet of the Acharya and listening to his words. After getting instructions from a proper Acharya, when one moves forward in the right direction, one is sure to reach the goal, provided one does not lose faith or become idle while traversing the difficult path of Sadhana which the same Upanishad compares to 'razor's edge'(kharasya dhara). So Jagrat is very important. There is a group of famous verses in Sanskrit end with the call which 'Tasmat Jagrat Jagrat,' "Therefore be alert, be vigilant." For all who want to make progress, this is a crucial element, 'to be alert and vigilant.' Whether it is in the material field or in the spiritual field, this is equally applicable. If in a moment of weakness or due to lack of alertness, you take a false step, you might suffer an irreversible fall. Therefore an honest seeker, whether of material or spiritual success, has to be vigilant at every moment and at every step. This is true as much in the case of nations as much as in that of individuals.

The times in which we live are such that Jagrat is absolutely decisive. The world is moving fast as never before. The rapidity and quantum of change that we witness are unparalleled in history. For ordinary men it is not even possible to comprehend what is really happening, before their very eyes. To keep pace with the change is a challenge for anyone, at any time. It is truly said "even to stand in the same place, you have to run very fast." In this flux of time, to stand stationary is to invite certain death. One has to move forward and has to keep pace with the rapidly changing situation. For this, one has to run very fast while at the same time keeping one's feet firmly on the terra firma

One should not get cut away from the root, because that is the source of all strength and nourishment. How these apparently contradictory things can be achieved is the challenge both individuals and nations are facing today. Bharat being an ancient nation with a deeply-rooted culture based on eternal values, this question is very crucial. But unlike many new-born nations we have ,also, got the answer to the question. As Swami Ranganathananda has put it: "We have the remedy for all the maladies we are confronted with." But one should be very alert and very vigilant, if we are not to slip into irreversible mistakes.

II

That India has the remedies for all the maladies is not just by way of an accident. It is a hard won legacy attained by continued struggle against heavy odds. As the oldest surviving civilization, she has experienced every malady that history has thrown up and through her unique, mature wisdom found out and applied suitable remedies. Unlike China, an equally ancient civilization, India has been able to preserve her soul and protect her identity through all the vicissitudes of time. That is why when the American President Barack Obama recently visited India and addressed our Parliament, he said that India is not just a country but a civilization. His words are worth quoting: "My confidence in our shared future is grounded in the respect for India's treasured past – a civilization that has been shaping the world for thousands of years. Indians unlocked the intricacies of human body and the vastness of our universe. India not only opened our minds, she expanded our moral imagination."

So it is not only that India has in her possession the remedy for her own maladies but also for those the world is today afflicted with. Many of our political leaders and administrators seem to be totally unaware of this great treasure which India still possesses in spite of her thousand years old slavery. To become aware of this, to update it and to consciously apply it to her own national life and get cured of the maladies is the first step India has to take. Vigilance- Jagrat- becomes critically relevant in this context.

If India is not just a country, but a civilization, then the question arises, what is that civilization? Swami Vivekananda has repeatedly reminded us that spirituality is the central idea around which the Indian civilization and culture have grown up. The mission of India is to manifest through her life, in every field, her National Soul, that is Spirituality. As Shri Aurobindo has famously put it "matter shall reveal the spirit." The external life of India should be a true reflection of her inner spiritual Truth. India's economy, polity, art, culture and every other field should be inspired and shaped by the all-pervading spiritual idea. The leaders of our freedom movement, not only the spiritual and cultural luminaries like Swami Vivekananda and Sri Aurobindo, but also political leaders like Tilak and Gandhi, have repeatedly told that India's freedom does not end with political democracy. Political equality and social justice should be based on the fundamental principle that every individual is a spark of the Divine and as such there is no high and low among the citizens. India's democracy should be founded upon the recognition of "Divinity of Man" and not just on the "dignity of man" as in the western democracies. This is a cardinal principle which independent India should have kept before herself in all her endeavors to translate freedom into reality. But unfortunately it did not happen. So we find that in spite of a very enlightened and elaborate constitution, we have corrupt leaders, dishonest politicians, selfish capitalists and unscrupulous media men. The only remedy for this is to awaken the dormant Soul-consciousness of the nation. That is why the call for 'Jagrat' becomes not only relevant but also absolutely essential. Bharat, our Motherland, stretching from 'Devatatma Himalaya' to sacred Kanyakumari is the physical embodiment of 'Adi Shakti,' as Sri Aurobindo has pointed out. Every inch of the soil and every drop of water were considered sacred by our ancestors. The whole land was splattered with centers of pilgrimage to which there was incessant flow of pilgrims from one corner of the country to the other. The very smell of the earth was considered 'sacred' (punya gandha) and a holy dip in the rivers was considered sufficient to wash off all sins. We worshipped the entire Nature as our Mother. We never polluted her or destroyed her until recently when the mindless technological and industrial invasion from the West ensnared us. After having created insurmountable climatic and ecological problems, the West is now trying desperately to find ways and means for its very survival. It speaks of 'Earth Day' to be celebrated so that that day we may remember the need for saving our endangered planet. It is a tragedy that our own leaders have not had the wisdom to declare that for India, where every day used to be an 'Earth Day.'

Earth is our beloved mother. The Vedas declared ages ago that "Mata Bhumi Putroham Prithvya:" - Earth is our mother and we are her children. It is this emotional bond and attachment that will create the mindset to preserve and protect our planet, and not more and more sophisticated technology which will again lead to more and more crises. It is in this critical situation that India has to come forward with her ancient and ever modern -- Sanatana -- wisdom and lead the world in the right direction. This can be achieved only if we are alert and vigilant. The call for Jagrat is our lifesaving Mantra.

III

Another major area which requires scrupulous attention is technology. Technology is making rapid strides. It is indeed a tribute to human ingenuity. But, technology is value neutral, whereas human beings who handle it are not so. Therefore it is important that new sophisticated technologies that are evolved should be utilized only for human welfare. Culture and technology can never be separated. In India when we invent or adopt new technologies we must bear in mind that it should be appropriate to the needs and requirements of our environment, natural and human resources and in tune with our cultural heritage and value system. In our craze for modernity if we blindly follow the Western paradigm, the result will be negative, and even disastrous. Scientists and politicians alone cannot appropriate to themselves the right to impose technologies over the people. There has been a demand that there should be a "technological ombudsman" consisting of people of wisdom and far-sightedness and who are committed to the long term welfare of the nation to decide what technology is appropriate for India. After the recent nuclear disaster in Japan, this has assumed very great relevance. In this context it is worth remembering that advanced countries like Germany have solemnly resolved to shut down all their nuclear installation and not to start any more in future. They have decided to reduce energy consumption to the extent possible and to explore renewable alternative sources.

Should we go in for nuclear energy in a big way or should we tap other sources which are available and harmless? Right from ancient times India has been a country whose culture had great reverence for the 'Sun.' Sun is the source of all energy - physical, intellectual and spiritual. Solar energy is not only inexhaustible but available at all times. If proper policy decision is taken to tap solar energy, along with other natural sources of energy like wind, on a commercial scale, it will reduce the problem of energy to a large extent. Similarly, the question of interlinking of rivers, if it is planned and executed with imagination and determination, both the problems of acute water scarcity and frequent devastating floods can be tackled. For a country whose population is largely agricultural, these two concepts, tapping of solar energy and interlinking of rivers (so far these aspects were ignored) can be immensely beneficial. What is required is an imaginative leadership with initiative and dynamism. Moreover, such ideas will inspire the nation to work hard for a bright future.

Another major area of concern, not only for India but for the whole world, is the problem of conflict between national integrity and divisive identities. The question of minorities clamoring for their 'pound of flesh' poses a threat to national integrity and cultural identity. This issue is being hotly debated all over the world, because it has given rise to violent conflicts between the majority and minority and even among the various caste, communal and racial identities. Secularism as understood in the West has not been able to provide a solution to this vexed problem. This poses a major threat to world peace. One of the solutions suggested is 'Multiculturalism' which means that people with various cultural identities should co-exist in peace and harmony. But as massive immigration takes place from outside and the native population dwindles in numbers, it is feared that secularism can end up in the marginalization of the original national population and domination by people from outside. India is facing this problem in ever increasing measures. Fast growing population of minority communities and their clamorous demands for more and more rights coupled with the 'vote bank politics' of most political parties are seriously disturbing the mind of the majority society. The ghost of 1947 partition of India is still haunting them. In many parts of India, the majority community is faced with a situation of large scale depletion of numbers along with alienation of landed property by foreign land money mafia with the help of their agents in the country. Slogans like secularism, multiculturalism, modernity etc. are only traps laid to deceive the majority into quietly accepting the ever growing political and economic clout of the so-called minority communities. Unless the Hindu society as a whole wakes up to the growing threat, the future can be greatly disadvantageous to them. As the famous saying goes 'eternal vigilance is the price of freedom.' So the call to be awake and alert is most relevant -- It is already a bit too late for the nationalist sections in India.

IV

India has a unique way of dealing with the onrush of modernity. She does not reject modernity or modernization. At the same time she does not get overwhelmed by it. She has a way of connecting modernity with tradition. To preserve what is eternal and unalterable in the tradition and to absorb and assimilate what is suitable in modernity is the way India has followed right from the very ancient times. This was achieved by interpreting the fundamental values in terms of changing circumstances. Society keeps on changing, evolving and progressing. That requires certain adjustments and revaluation of moral and ethical values. But spiritual values are eternal, Sanatana. When the times change, Sanatana Dharma has to be interpreted in terms of Yuga Dharma. Such interpretations are permissible only in our country and our culture. Swami Ranganathananda has beautifully stated that "eternal values must be adopted to suit the demands of changing society." So this concept of Sanatana Dharma and Yuga Dharma functioning harmoniously has been the reason for the unbroken continuity of India's cultural vitality. Bold and vigorous interpreters have arisen time and again whenever the situation demanded. Such farsighted, selfless, spiritually advanced persons were called Rishis. At critical times we had Avatars also bringing about drastic changes in the society by rejuvenating Sanatana Dharma. They were social legislators and epoch makers. That is the uniqueness of our spiritually oriented national existence. Swami Vivekananda had reminded us that the present generation demands such Rishis to come up and legislate for changes required for modernity on the principle of Yuga Dharma.

India is a 'miniature world' in itself. World today is in the throes of revolutionary changes. Unfortunately those who have the power to bring about healthy and necessary changes do not have the vision or wisdom to evaluate the pros and cons of the changes that are being brought about by various forces. All are in favor of development, but the current concept of development does not go beyond economic and other materialistic parameters. In their view development has no moral or spiritual content. The kind of development that we witness is lopsided. This leaves large sections of world population poorer and more miserable and benefit only a very small number who become immensely and unaccountably wealthy. This is bound to lead to large scale unrest if not remedied in time. India is also facing this problem. One of the visible signs of this lopsided development is large scale urbanization leaving the countryside high and dry. Rich countries become enviably richer and poor miserably poorer. India had always a balanced view of development. It was a harmonious adjustment among the welfare of forest-dwellers, the rural population, the small town inhabitants and those who live in the mega cities. Because everyone's interest was taken care of, the country prospered without unmanageable turbulence. British imperialism disturbed this balance, but unfortunately leaders of independent India did not qualitatively change the colonial policies and its social, economic and political approach. The result is that terrorist outfits like Maoists and Naxalites are threatening to break up the very fabric of our national unity. It is necessary to recognize that those who live in mountains and forests are not uncultured or unproductive people as the urban population imagine. Their identity has to be accepted and their growth should be assured without changing their cultural ethos while of course helping them to enjoy the benefit of modern facilities.

The most sacred Gayatri Mantra by the Vedic Rishi Viswamitra is not only a hymn to be blindly chanted, but to be understood and applied in all its various dimensions including its energy value.

It is pertinent to remember that our great culture has had its origin in the hermitages of renowned Rishis who lived in dense forests. Our Upanishads are the product of the ambiance provided by the calm peaceful and serene forest cover. We should not allow these to become hotbeds of antinational and violent outfits.

Nation will be strong, healthy, and materially and spiritually progressive only when these diversities are appreciated and encouraged while maintaining the delicate balance between the various sections of our national population. That requires deep and sympathetic insight into our traditional approach which is all-inclusive and mutually respectful. The so-called modern Western civilization does not give any clue to this kind of integral and co-operative approach.

Overwhelmed by such gigantic problems, one may be tempted to ask: "What is my role in all this? As an individual I am so insignificant while the problems are gigantic and global." It is quite natural, but one should realize that every big change starts from the individual. It is one simple step that leads to other steps. It is one single lamp that lights other similar ones and creates a garland of lamps. Change always starts from the individual, who is self-confident, socially committed and charged with national pride. If India is to bring about the much needed change in the present world situation, every single patriotic individual imbued with India's cultural values will have to take up the responsibility. When, as Swami Vivekananda has said, "a hundred thousand men and women" come forward in this direction, the seemingly impossible task will certainly be achieved. Let each one listen to the call- "Arise, Awake and Stop not till the Goal is reached." Let Jagrat be our watchword at this critical juncture of human evolution.

Before concluding let us recall the poignant question posed by Swami Vivekananda to each one of us "The world is burning in misery; can you sleep?" It is in response to this call that everyone associated with Vivekananda Kendra has to dedicate his or her life as a supreme sacrifice. Vivekananda Kendra along with Vivekananda International has the responsibility, not only to our nation but to the international community as a whole, to rise up to the occasion and take up the challenges.

We have the capability, if only we decide Tasmat Jagrat, Jagrat.

Vision of Vivekananda:--

Friends, when I am in this beautiful environment - the Ancestral House of Swami Vivekananda, let me recall an event that took place in a ship which was sailing from Bombay to Europe in 1901. Two great human beings were traveling in that ship. They introduced each other. They were Swami Vivekananda and Jamsetji Nusserwanji Tata. Swamiji asked Nausserwanji Tata where he was going and what was the mission. Jamsetji Nusserwanji Tata said, "Swamiji, I am going with a mission to bring steel industry to country". Friends it was in 1901, when India was ruled by the Britishers. Swamiji said, "it is indeed a beautiful mission. My best wishes. However, I would like to give you a small caution. Whatever amount you spend to get the process of making steel simultaneously you should learn the metallurgical science of making steel also. I would prefer you to start an Institute, a laboratory to do advanced research on the subject". What a prophetic statement which came in the year 1901. Many things happened after that. Jamsetji Nusserwanji Tata could not get the technology for manufacturing steel from UK. However, he could get the knowhow of manufacturing steel after crossing the Atlantic from USA and he established the Tata Iron and Steel Company at Jamshedpur. A big planning took place. That planning had two parts: the first part was to start steel manufacturing plant presently at Jamshedpur in Jharkhand. Simultaneously, he donated one sixth of his property for establishing an Institute of Material Research at Bangalore.

Dream come true ---

* There was middle - aged woman who had been born in Moscow and had spent her youth there. While in Russia she had had a dream which she related with much emotion. In the dream she was led to a sailing ship by a luminous man; it was a black night, and the ship set sail in a boundless sea. She was afraid. Then another man, whose face she saw very clearly, said to her, "There is no fear. Even in the dark the ship will go to its destination." Her fear left, and she awoke". For many years thereafter she had searched in vain for that face in both Russia and England. Then in October of 1895 she attended Swamiji's lecture at Prince's Hall, and there he was, the man in her dream. Piccadilly U.K.

Swami Vivekananda – Awakening to his Countrymen

He returned to India in January 1897. In response to the enthusiastic welcome that he received everywhere, he delivered a series of lectures in different parts of India, which created a great stir all over the country. Through these inspiring and profoundly significant lectures Swamiji attempted to do the followings -

- ▶ to rouse the religious consciousness of the people and create in them pride in their cultural heritage;
- ▶ to bring about unification of Hinduism by pointing out the common bases of its sects;
- ▶ to focus the attention of educated people on the plight of the downtrodden masses, and to expound his plan for their uplift by the application of the principles of Practical Vedanta.

A memorable event that happened during the Class X parents' meeting in VKV Banderdewa in the month of September 2010 is worth mentioning. It happened during the deliberations of the meeting; Teacher asked the parents if any of them wanted to give feedback on their wards. Few parents gave feedback. Then one lady got up and informed that she has come to attend this meeting despite hurdles on the way to school from her area. The road got blocked at one point on the way due to heavy rain and landslide. GREF people told that chance of re-opening of road immediately is very grim. Instead of returning, she decided to leave her vehicle on the road, climbed the hill up and then down, walked for several kilometers before getting another vehicle up to the school. She took all this pain because she considered this meeting is very important. Here she could get chance not only to meet her child, but also all the teachers and Kendra elders.

Each soul is potentially divine. The goal is to manifest this Divinity within, by controlling nature, external and internal. Do this either by work, or worship, or psychic control, or philosophy ---by one or more or all of these ---and be free. This is the whole of religion. Doctrines, or dogmas, or rituals, or books, or temples, or forms, are but secondary details.

The motive power of the whole universe, in whatever way it manifests itself, is that one wonderful thing, unselfishness, renunciation, love, the real, the only living force in existence.

Vivekananda international foundation

- Objective - Initiative for harmony between civilization through dialogue and discussions.
- Activities - Organizing conferences, seminars and study circles
- Locations - New Delhi

Inaugurated on 1 Dec 2009 with the goal of creating a premier, non-partisan institute to debate, to deliberate, and engage with issues concerning our national interests so as to permeate policy interventions. More activities are planned in the coming days and emphasis is constantly given on quality research.

Analyze India's external and internal security environment to offer inputs for shaping policies and response strategies. Offer policy alterations to contain rising extremism caused by India's socio-ethnic disparities.

Interact with civil society and offer institutional support for exchange of ideas among conflicting groups.

Series of activities and initiatives were undertaken to achieve Vivekananda International Foundation's objective to become a thought leader on national interest issues and to promote nationalistic values.

VIF has initiated research in the following areas of strategic and security interests

Chinese Strategic Weapons Development – Implications and Options for India

Envisioning India's Military Strategy – 2020 Missile Warfare Capability as C&K – Efficacy of Government Funding in Combating Terrorism Ore Component of India's National Security and Military Strategies

Seminar on 'The Great Himalayan Watershed: Water issues impacting India-Perspectives & Challenges'- The seminar was organized in association with The Foundation for Non-violent Action. Speakers at the seminar were Claude Arpi, a French author and Tibetologist, Ashok Jaitly, Distinguished Fellow and Director, Water Resources Division, TERI and Abhinaba Chakravarti of Pragna, an NGO. The aspects of regional water and environmental issues were discussed.

Hero of Youth

"Let us proclaim to every soul.- Arise, awake and stop not till the goal is reached. Arise, Awake from hypnotism of this weakness. None is really weak; the soul is infinites, Omnipotent and omniscient. Stand up, assert yourself, proclaim the GOD within you, do not deny him! Too much of inactivity, too much of weakness, too much of hypnotism, has been & is upon our race. O ye mordent Hindus, de-hypnotize yourselves. The way to do that is found in your own sacred books. Teach yourself, teach everyone his real nature, call upon the sleeping sound and see how it awakes. Power will come, glory will come, goodness will come, and purity will come, Everything that is excellent will come when this sleeping soul is roused to Self-conscious activity.-Ay, If there is anything in the Gita that I like, it is these verses, coming out strong as the very gist, the very essence, of Krishana's teaching "He who sees the supreme Lord dwelling alike in all beings, the Imperishable in the things that perish, he sees indeed. For seeing the Lord as the same, everywhere present, he does not destroy the self by the self, and thus he goes to the highest goal."

--Swami Vivekananda

The longest night seems to be passing away, the sorest trouble seems to be coming to an end at last, the seeming corpse appears to be awaking and a voice is coming to us –away back where history and even tradition fails to peep into the gloom of the past, coming down from there, reflected as it were from peak to peak of the infinite Himalaya of knowledge, and of love and of work, India, this motherland of ours –a voice is coming unto us, gentle, firm, and yet unmistakable in its utterances, and is gaining volume as days pass by, and behold, the sleeper is awakening! Like a breeze from the Himalayas, it is bringing life into the almost dead bones and muscles, the lethargy is passing away, and only the blind cannot see, or the perverted will not see, that she is awakening, this motherland of ours, from her deep long sleep. None can resist her any more; never is she going to sleep any more; no outward powers can hold her back any more.

Swami Vivekananda : A great disciple of Sri Ramakrishna Paramahansa, first Hindu missionary, patriot, nation-builder, social scientist and a master organizer. He made the nation aware of its soul-Hindu Dharma.

The nation today:

At a critical moment of history, Bharat is poised for an orbital jump in global status. But crisis of leadership has weakened the nation and its spirit. Beleaguered by unprecedented corruption, fledging security scenario --- internal and external, uneven economic growth and more.

But is Bharat as a whole corrupt? NO. Not the people of Bharat but the leadership of Bharat, political, intellectual and business, is responsible for corruption.

The national current

Propagation of non-conflicting ideas and practicing non-conflicting methods even in front of toughest challenges.

The nation always revived from hopeless situations by the combination of spiritualism and activism like Samarth Ramdas and Chatrapathi Shivaji, Sri Krishna and Arjuna, Vidyaranya Swami and Harihara Bukka and so on.

Ramakrishna-Vivekananda revived the spiritual nationalist surge. Swamiji's fiery words delivered in his lectures from Colombo to Almorah provided the philosophy for the independence movement and freedom fighters. He ignited the Youth power of Bharat and unleashed it to free the nation from foreign yoke.

Becoming free is not the same thing as becoming and being independent. Empty idealism without practical wisdom has weakened the physical might of Bharat. Psyche of the people is casual and in-alert. Chinese attack in 1962. National humiliation and Bharat's Territory occupied even today. Lost honour and self-confidence. No leader could lift the morale.

Swami Vivekananda's Birth Centenary in 1963. Year-long Centenary programmes enlivened the soul of the people and reinstated their hopes and confidence. Construction of the mighty Vivekananda Rock Memorial in Kanyakumari- the spiritual-nationalist lighthouse for the millions. The nation saw the rise of mighty spirit of the people.

The 1998 Pokharan Atomic Blast- the grit to face the sanctions of the world. Bharat rose as a global military and geo-political power. The confident nation began huge strides in economic development.

Today Bharat is emerging one of the world's three global powers besides USA and China. Yes Bharat is on the rise. But will Bharat be an aggressive power, or will it a benevolent power?

Economic crisis by cultural erosion:

The contemporary West is the socio-economic-cultural-political model as modernity. But, its economic rise for half a century is by exhausting its cultural and civilisational assets.

Communities and families, the bulwark of culture and traditions, keep the people connected to one another. Cultural decline – no family but just single parent households, live-in relations, lone individual households, unwed motherhood. Initially, this cultural decline actually promoted the economic growth.

But, in US, after exhausting the cultural capital it led to high consumption and fall in household and national savings, landing the households in debts leading to the economic crisis.

Our country is free from this vice. Families are intact because our culture is preserved. But the tendency to look to the West creates risk of cultural erosion in Bharat. We need to strengthen the cultural capital of Bharat which promotes social and also financial capital.

Bharat as the Jagat Guru:

Hindu nation needs to look more within than at the Western world today. Our state and intellectual establishment looked to socialism for the first 40 years after freedom and global capitalism afterwards. The collapse of world's financial order, failure of economic theories of last thirty years, now a great move to search within for ideas and solutions.

Spiritual nationalist thoughts of Swami Vivekananda, Maharishi Dayananda, Maharishi Aurobindo and others in that tradition inspired the birth of spiritual, social, political and nationalist movements. They have the potential and the capacity to create an alternative world view in Bharat and for global thrust.

150th birth anniversary of Swami Vivekananda, most potent opportunity to rid the nation of its spiritual, intellectual, social, political and national lethargy and confusion.

It is historic opportunity to galvanize might of the Hindu nationalist youth power. Bharat is the young country with maximum youth & the most ancient civilization. Today youth of Bharat is educated, well-placed, and sincere and wants to know more about our country. The service of the masses appeal to them. They are eager to respond to the call. The 150th anniversary presents a right moment to take Swami Vivekananda to youth.

Building strength with character to play its global role is the first and the foremost need for Bharat on the rise. Bharat, said Swami Vivekananda, will emerge as the Jagat Guru. Only a strong and vibrant Hindu Bharat can show the way for global peace and harmony.

Arnold Toynbee and Will Durant call for Bharat's rise for the good of humanity.

The 150th Birth Anniversary of Swami Vivekananda is the most appropriate occasion for India to prepare herself to rise as the Jagat-Guru and wake up to its potentialities and responsibilities and enlighten the world.

The objectives of Celebrations

1. To give the universal message of Bharat of Oneness, respect of diversity and immortality of soul in the words of Swami Vivekananda to as many as possible
2. To get karyakartas
3. To go one step upward – where indifference, create receptivity for the work; where there is receptivity, acquire strength; and where strong work exists, make it more effective.
4. To spread the work in the areas not entered till date

Focus of the year-long celebration:

Hence the theme for the 150th Birth Anniversary of Swami Vivekananda is appropriately named as “Wake up Bharat! Enlighten the World!!” “Bharat Jago! Vishwa Jago!!” Accordingly “Panchamukhi”-five-pronged programmes are proposed for discussions to achieve the goal.

The five segments of the society with thrust of social harmony

I. Yuva: We have to awaken the dormant massive youth power (focusing on student and non-student youth below 40 years age)

II. Social and thought Leaders: Mould the thinking style of our educated and intellectual class

III. Villagers: Strengthen and raise the confidence level of the millions of masses in our society particularly focusing on those living in villages, which are the bulwark of this nation from time immemorial,

IV.Women: Increase the role and space of women in all walks of life

V.Janajatis: Respect, Preserve, protect and promote indigenous faith and culture of all Janjatis.

The immediate work before us

1.To search and associate right persons

For that to reach out to as many youths as possible through various programs college competitions, Simhanad and Vijay hi Vijay as started by Vivekananda Kendra in some states, Appeals in these coming one half years to be undertaken to interested youth

2. To list out organisations

For this purpose, at first, we have proposed to prepare two Directories: Hindu spiritual and service organizations in Bharat, and Organizations/Institutions named after Swami Vivekananda

3.Generation and sale of Swami Vivekananda's literature:

Complete works of Swami Vivekananda is available in most of the Bharateeya and foreign languages. It is felt that on the eve of the Swami Vivekananda Sardh Shati Samaroh, few more publications on and of Swamiji are required to be published taking into consideration of the present situation prevailing in the country. Therefore, the need of the hour is to “Wake up Bharat! Enlighten the World!!” through the medium of good literature by publishing 150 relevant titles.
